Statewide student enrollment declining

Bay trustees to review teacher layoff policy

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees Thursday, May 20 will review a teacher layoff policy.

J.D. McCullough, superintendent of education, at a Monday night board meeting reported schools statewide are experiencing a declining student enrollment.

"I hope we are never faced with this (enrollment decline), but we need a school board policy to say who will go first," he stated.

"This policy will be based on (a teacher's) degrees, knowledge of subject matter and how long the person has been with the school system," McCullough explained.

"I've learned that in most court cases if you have a policy it goes a long way with the judge rather than not have anything at all," he stated.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the superintendent's office at Bay Senior High School.

Also at that meeting the board will discuss renovating the senior high cafeteria's walk-in freezer and refrigerator, and restrooms at Bay Junior High School, purchasing two new school buses, and replacing roofs of the high school gymnasium and S.J. Ingram building at the junior high.

McCullough said the gym project is estimated at $37,000 and Ingram building work at $26,500.

The superintendent reported the district can borrow about $350,000 for various improvement projects based on the district's assessed valuation and a two-mill tax levied in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

"We keep our ability to borrow just about filled at all times. This is about the only income we have without going to the people for a vote (bond issue)," McCullough stated.

He reviewed major district purchases during the last four years which included several school buses and a new junior high cafeteria.

McCullough added he hopes the State Educational Finance Commission will assist in funding the gym roof replacement and bus purchases.

In other business at the 7:30 p.m. regular meeting, the board:

—Authorized legal advertisements seeking bids for installation of propane fuel conversion kits on 15 regularly-driven buses and a 6,000-gallon refueling tank as recommended by Donald Caldwell, assistant superintendent and transportation supervisor. He estimated that after a two-year period the approximate $550 installation cost will be repaid based on annual estimated fuel savings of $394;

—Authorized advertisements seeking bids to replace two 90-foot wood poles holding several lights at the Tiger Stadium baseball field as recommended by Frank Ladner, high school assistant principal. He said holes carved by woodpeckers could result in the poles located behind center field snapping and toppling other light poles at the field. He estimated the replacement cost at $4,500. The board also added in the advertisement a request for an optional bid for two poles to support stadium lights now supported by four wood poles;

—Authorized deeding a triangular section of property adjacent to the city water tower at the stadium to Bay St. Louis for construction of a new water well. Lucien Gex, board attorney, recommended and the board authorized a quit-claim deed be issued to the city for the property donation;

—Accepted a resignation submitted by Pat Harris, a high school mathematics teacher. McCullough said the teacher will remain with the district until the end of the present school year;

—Accepted a recommendation by McCullough to hire Dr. Brenda Scafidi as a special education teacher, Gloria Acker as a North Bay Elementary School fourth grade teacher, Marilyn Bailey as a junior high home economics instructor, and Amanda L. Beard as a high school mathematics teacher;

—Authorized McCullough to send forms to the State Department of Education designating the Junior High and North Bay and Waveland

Sheriff investigating motel shooting death

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is investigating a Tuesday night shooting death which occurred at the old Holiday Sands Motel on US-90 west of Waveland.

Allen Eugene Gwyn, 29, of Route 2, Box 132, Bay St. Louis, was charged with murdering Dennis Harold Black, 24, of the same address.

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson, Wednesday said Gwyn is being held in County Jail in Bay St. Louis in lieu of $50,000 bond set by Justice Court Judge John Chevis in an arraignment earlier that day.

"At about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday our office received a call about a shooting at the old motel," Peterson stated.

"Officers arriving at the scene found Black laying on the living room floor in a pool of blood," the sheriff reported.

Investigator Alvin Ladner of the department, Wednesday said County Coroner Carl Banderet determined Black died instantly from a 12-gauge shotgun blast fired at close range into the middle of his chest.

Peterson said, "A crime scene investigation revealed Black was living and working with Gwyn. That evening the two were apparently drinking when an argument ensued."

"Black allegedly shot at Gwyn about three times with a .38 caliber pistol and threw the weapon through a window. Gwyn then apparently got a 12-gauge shotgun out of a bedroom and shot Black," he stated.

The sheriff reported Gwyn was transported to Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis where he was treated for superficial wounds of the forehead and skull and released.

"Gwyn states the wounds were inflicted when he was grazed by shots fired by Black," Peterson said.

Peterson reported he, Ladner, Investigator Delbert Seay and Banderet completed the crime scene investigation at about 3 a.m. Wednesday.

Regarding the ongoing investigation, the sheriff said, "We are trying to determine what actually happened because Black and Gwyn were the only people present when the shooting occurred."

Gwyn is scheduled for a preliminary hearing before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein June 2 at 6 p.m.

Sheriff's department personnel to first arrive at the scene were Capt. Paul Bernard and Deputies Danny Savoy and Russell Watts.

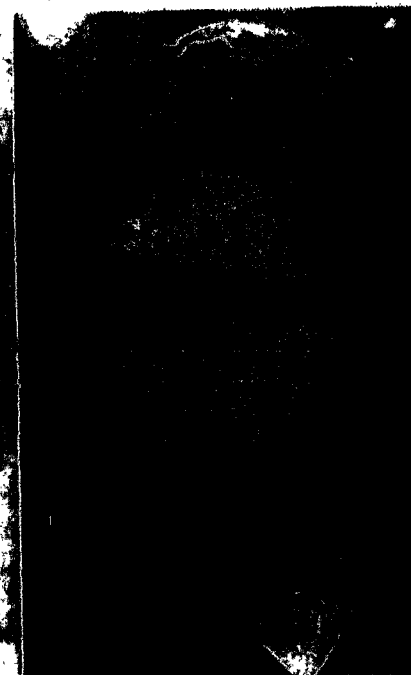

Lindsey announces candidacy

Wessler Seeking Judgeship

William P. Wessler, 42, a Republican candidate for Circuit Court Judge, Place One, for Hancock, Harrison and Stone Counties.

Wessler, a 1964 graduate of Gulfport High School, graduated from Tulane University in 1968 with a law degree.

Wessler, Gulfport Municipal Court Judge, announced his candidacy for Circuit Court Judge, Place One, with jurisdiction in Stone, Harrison and Hancock Counties.

Lindsey, who will run in the June 1 Republican primary, served as a Gulfport Municipal Judge for six years.

Waveland landlord refutes statements by mayor, protesters

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Owner of a Waveland residence being considered as a new location for the Harbor House Girls Home this week refuted several statements made by protesters and Mayor John Longo at a recent City Board of Aldermen's meeting.

At that meeting, the board voted to oppose the homeless girls facility located in a two-story house on Sidney Street owned by Sidney Woods.

The board's action was in response to a petition presented by several residents attending the meeting who live in the vicinity of the Woods building. The petition listed some 91 names.

Currently, Jennie Mitchell who lives across the street from the proposed home location is circulating a petition in support of the facility located in the neighborhood.

Woods' wife Marie Monday refuted statements made by the residents and Mayor Longo.

Regarding claims by the opposing residents that the proposed facility was a "wayward girls home," Woods said the property is definitely zoned commercial along with nearby land planned for development as Town Square Shopping Center.

In reference to the meeting news report stating that officials did not confirm the zoning classification for the property, Woods stated, "I talked to Longo yesterday and he said he didn't have time at the meeting to research the zoning classification for my property."

Regarding Longo's statement that the city would not approve location of the proposed funeral home in the two-story building, Woods reported, "A privilege license was issued to us on Nov. 5, 1975 which allowed us to open the funeral home."

Woods said Jan. 1, 1976 was the planned date the funeral home should have opened, but economic factors prompted the Woods to abandon their plans—not a lack of parking space as claimed by the protesters and Longo.

Woods was never turned down for a license," she stated.

Woods said only one resident with property adjacent to the two-story home is opposing the teenage girls home located on Sidney Street and others complaining at the meeting live along Nicholson Avenue and other streets.

The woman reports she has talked to one person who objected at the board meeting who thought juvenile delinquents were to be housed at the two-story home.

In fact, the petition states that those signing the document oppose a "wayward girls home" located on Louisa Street, a street which intersects Sidney Street.

"I can't see any reason why we can't rent our building to Harbor House," Woods added.

Harbor House is the only Mississippi Department of Public Welfare-operated facility of its type in the state. Eight girls are housed at the present facility located in the old Gex home at the corner of Gex and Court streets across the street from the Hancock County Jail.

Wallace Bradley, County Welfare Department director, recently said Harbor House's lease with McDonald Realty expires at the end of this month when the firm plans to begin renovating the building for rental office space.

TIGER STADIUM GREMLINS—J.D. McCulloch, Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District superintendent of education, reported at a Monday night District Board of Trustees meeting that he has requested the city install a fence around the base of the Bay water tower, below, at Tiger Stadium to help deter any future vandalism. The superintendent also reported woodpeckers are carving holes in two 90-foot poles supporting lights at the stadium baseball field. A series of holes are evident in one pole, above, to be replaced. The board authorized advertisements seeking bids to replace the damaged poles. (Staff photos by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Montgomery pursuing TCU dance degree

Sharon Montgomery of Bay St. Louis is among 21 ballet and modern dance students at Texas Christian University presenting choreography studios, a requirement for their degrees, on May 13 and 14.

Montgomery, a Diamondhead resident, is a ballet major at TCU.

In 1949 TCU initiated the first department of ballet on the university level in the United States and since 1953 has offered a bachelor of fine arts degree in ballet.

A graduate program, begun in 1975, leads to the master of fine arts degree in theatre with a dance emphasis.

TCU added the major in modern dance in 1975, broadening the program to a division of ballet and modern dance headed by Fernando Saffenberg, former principal dancer with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

The modern dance program is under the direction of Jerry Bywaters, Cochran Jaquillard graduate who has been called "the modern dance master."

by critics here and abroad as a modern dance artist, choreographer and leader in liturgical dance.

Catahoula boy seeks funds to vie in national event

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational and Technical Training Center student is attempting to raise funds to participate in national Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America competition. Joey P. Moran, 17, of the Catahoula Community and a senior at Hancock North Central High School will represent Mississippi in an industrial electricity division at the national VICA event

June 21-28 in Louisville, Ky. Jim Wolf, Vo-Tech electrical instructor and VICA advisor, says Moran needs about $900 to pay for a registration fee and lodging at the national event.

"Hancock North Central and Pearl River have no funds to reimburse Moran for trip expenses," he notes.

"Joey (Moran) will be competing in industrial electricity against high school students representing the 50 states," Wolf reports.

The instructor says Moran became eligible for the national VICA event after winning first place recently in statewide competition in Biloxi.

"Moran is only the second student in Vo-Tech history to win state competition and attend the national VICA event," he stated.

Wolf said a benefit softball tournament is planned to help raise funds for Moran, but more donations are needed. Moran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Moran Jr., also of Catahoula.

He is a second-year Vo-Tech industrial electricity student, VICA member and varsity football player.

Moran's favorite sports include football, water skiing and dirt bike riding.

He plans to continue studies in industrial electricity at PRJC in Poplarville this fall.

TO REPRESENT MISSISSIPPI—Joey P. Moran, left, 17, of the Catahoula Community, a Hancock North Central High School senior and a second-year Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational and Industrial Training Center student will represent the state in the industrial electricity division of the Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America's national competition in Louisville, Ky. in June. Jim Wolf is Vo-Tech industrial electricity instructor and the center's VICA advisor. He will accompany Moran to Kentucky, but some $900 is needed to help pay the boy's registration fee and lodging at the national event. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Association recognizes Ole Miss Art Department

The Department of Art of The University of Mississippi has become the only institution of higher learning in Mississippi, and one of only nine institutions in the Southeast, to become fully accredited for both bachelor's and master's professional degrees by the National Association of Schools of Art and Design.

The NASAD has 107 accredited institutional members throughout the United States, of which 50 have full BFA and MFA degree listings. "We are thrilled and delighted to have been fully accredited in all 15 areas of degree concentration," commented art department chairman Margaret Gorove. "This culminates four years of hard work on the part of our entire faculty and staff for the accreditation study, and the recognition is a real source of pride for all of us."

Ms. Gorove has been notified that the NASAD Committee on Accreditation voted to grant Ole Miss initial membership in Division II for a period of five years with the following degree listings: four-year bachelor of arts programs in art history and interior design; four-year bachelor of fine arts in art programs in art education, ceramics, painting, print-making and sculpture; one-year master of arts programs in art education and art history; and two-year master of fine arts programs in ceramics, painting, print-making and sculpture.

In the notification letter, the commission commended Ms. Gorove and her colleagues for their "thorough response to the concerns" of the accreditation group.

Please observe speed limits near ball fields

The Bay St. Louis Little League will hold its official opening Saturday at McDonald Field at Ulman and Dunbar Avenues. This will mean all the leagues for youngsters in Hancock County are in full swing.

Now, as we all know youngsters, when they have baseball on their minds, may not necessarily pay as strict attention to traffic laws as they normally do.

Vehicular traffic near all ball fields have been drastically reduced, more than cut-in-half, down to 10 miles per hour by these parks, and for good reason.

We have spoken to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams and Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn, all of whom say they are going to enforce these reduced speeds near the ball fields.

In some areas, a special police officer will be at the ball park, so we urge all citizens to please observe the reduced speeds at our children's playgrounds.

We wish the boys and girls luck this ball season, and hope everyone will have safe trips to and from the ball fields.

We know there are also many adult leagues, and this will also bring out the children to watch their parents and friends play, so we have to drive carefully around all playgrounds.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

I have a small business and can't decide if I need to run a small ad frequently or a large ad occasionally. What Do You Think?

Dear WDET: It depends on a number of factors, some of which we'll discuss, but generally I would say, do both.

That is, keep a small ad in the paper all the time and when you feel the need for a special promotion, run a larger size.

Working closely with the ad staff you can sometimes get a more attractive rate by carefully scheduling publication. Most media have discounts based on volume or frequency or a combination of the two.

But an even greater benefit to you than discounts you may earn is that such a plan assures you of being in the market place at the right time. Without a well thought out schedule all too often plus-business is missed simply because someone recognizes an opportunity after-the-fact.

Another consideration is that careful advertising pays for itself. If you know what you are doing and time your ad offerings to take advantage of local market demand, increased volume and resulting profit will more than pay for your promotional efforts.

If you don't know exactly what you are doing a good plan developed with the consultation of advisors who know the market will be safer than running ads, regardless of size, when the spirit or whatever, moves you.

So I would recommend an overall plan, based on calendar demand, as the basis for any promotional effort. The rest, including appropriate size of ads, will take care of itself.

ANOTHER ILLEGAL DUMP—An unhealthy and unsightly dumping area is developing on a winding dirt road on property just southwest of the I-10 and Hwy. 645 interchange adjacent to several acres land recently cleared and reforested. The only legal dumping area in Hancock County is the Catfish Creek dump some five miles northwest of the area shown. We recommend this garbage be moved to the dump and the road closed off to avoid enticing any other inconsiderate individuals from dumping at this location.

Empathetic teenager shocked at Waveland rejection of Harbor House residents

Dear Editor:
When I read the news article about the Harbor House in last week's edition of the Sea Coast Echo, I was overwhelmed by the insensitivity of a few "well meaning" citizens of our community.

The lack of compassion and understanding rang loudly and clearly as I read that some unfortunate girls were being denied a home.

I am a teenage girl and I attend Trinity Christian Academy, which is close to the girls new home.

I feel no threat, instead I am happy they will (if not denied), be living nearby so that we can visit and minister to them of Jesus' love and interest in their lives.

These girls are not criminals, simply young ladies who need care for their physical and spiritual well-being.

I really hope that citizens of this community will realize their responsibility to all of God's children—for we are all our brother's keepers.

Sincerely,
Alisha Cox

Harbor House residents deserve apology from community slanderers

May 6, 1982
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:
It saddened me to read the article about the Harbor House teenagers soon to be homeless.

Being homeless is nothing new to these girls, that is why they are in foster care to begin with...what saddened and angered me were the statements that the children (For they are still children) would be a threat to the safety of the neighborhood residents.

If the petitioners are unsure of the safety of the home itself (regardless of the children or whomever should live there) fine, and I'm glad for their concern, but those petitioners that were concerned for their own safety if the girls were to be placed in their neighborhood make accusations that are unsubstantiated and slanderous.

The girls in Harbor House are not placed there because of criminal offenses, but because they have been the victims of neglect and/or abuse and were placed in the custody of the Welfare Department for safety and protection.

Little did the Welfare Department know that they would have to protect them from the slander of the local community.

Whatever these girls may be they are not criminals, and do not deserve the accusations made by those petitioners. They deserve an apology.

The Honorable John Longo, Mayor
City of Waveland
Waveland, Ms

Dear Mayor Longo:
I respectfully request permission for myself and others to appear before the next Board of Aldermen meeting in order to reply to the petition filed with this Board and approved by this Board to prevent Harbor House, a group foster home for teenage girls, from locating at the property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Woods on Sidney Street in the City of Waveland.

I believe that the next regular meeting of this Board is scheduled for Wednesday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m. Please advise if this date is incorrect.

I would appreciate this opportunity to tell the other side of the story.

South Central Bell official defends utility advertising

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Mississippi

Dear Editor:
Recently a letter-to-the-editor in the Sea Coast Echo made mention of advertising as it relates to South Central Bell. Often the purpose and value of our limited advertisement programs are not understood.

Advertising encourages consumers to use our services and buy our products. It tells them about cost-cutting techniques which trim their phone bill and reduce our service cost.

The dollars we spend to advertise long distance calling, for instance, generate cost savings or additional revenue, or both.

To promote the use of our long distance network when it is least busy, evenings, nights and weekends, after the business day, produces added revenue and discounts or savings to our customers.

Such advertisement benefits both the company and its customers.

The company benefits because revenue is increased without a corresponding increase in expense. Customers benefit from lower priced calls because long distance rates are lowest during the off-peak hours.

Likewise to encourage people to dial their own long distance calls saves us and our customers money.

When they do, the calls cost us less to handle. Those savings—part of which are passed on—in effect, to customers in the form of lower charges.

So advertising helps customers get the maximum benefits from their service and use it efficiently.

Promotional advertising helps to sustain and increase revenue by stimulating usage of the company's equipment and services.

All of our advertising works to help keep down the price of basic service. Competition in telecommunications products and services is a reality, and it is here to stay.

Competition is growing rapidly in both terminal (telephone sets and switchboards) and intercity service (long distance) markets.

It is in fact national policy. Our company intends to compete in any sector in which we can provide a needed service, and advertising must be an essential part of our marketing and information effort if we are to compete successfully.

Promotional advertising helps to sustain and increase revenue by stimulating usage of the company's equipment and services.

South Central Bell needs advertising in each broad market segment—residence, business, and network—to attract profitable business that might otherwise be lost to competitors.

Until basic residence rates fully cover the cost of providing that service, profitable services must continue to make contribution to help cover these costs.

So, our competitive advertising is now beneficial to all customers.

Our advertising costs represent an extremely small fraction of our intrastate revenue. In fact during 1981, it represented only about 28 percent or about seven cents out of every $25 in intrastate revenue.

South Central Bell spends far less of its revenue on advertising than most other businesses.

All of our advertising works to help keep down the price of basic telephone service. Advertising does not cost; it pays.

Yours very truly,
DON H. ROBERTS
District Manager

Tonight the Miss USA contest will be on nationwide television and will end two weeks of preliminaries by all the lovely ladies in our area.

The pageant is a Mississippi Gulf Coast-wide event and has taken the attention of many folks, especially the men during all the various events which have been filmed of the lovely ladies.

We know Randy Ponder has been rather scarce around the office for the past two weeks and we are waiting his request any day for the assignment of covering the Miss USA events next year. He gave his request for this year as the 1981 pageant ended.

We have had many people from Hancock County very much involved in the pageant. Such as Virginia Wagner whose husband told us Sunday he was going to see her that afternoon.

It was as if Fred had to make an appointment with Virginia to visit her as she has been very involved in the pageant for the past weeks.

The Little Sisters from Hancock County have devoted many hours to the pageant, and volunteers from the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce helped run the offices for a day.

We think it is great as to how these folks and more from Hancock County, the rest of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and State of Mississippi have worked together to bring the Miss USA Pageant back for another year.

Thanks to everyone!

We know the hair stylists from Shears Delight have enjoyed their work with the many lovely contestants in the Miss USA Pageant.

In a conversation with John Miller, stylist and owner of Shears Delight on Tuesday, he said his four stylist have all donated about 20 hours each styling the hair of the many entrants this year.

We know John would have liked to have done some of the hair styling on the beauties himself, but he had one serious problem, only women were allowed in the dressing rooms.

One thing is for sure, John will get to view the work of his stylists like millions of others during the finals on nationwide television. The one difference of course, he has a ringside seat.

One of our subscribers stopped us this week and questioned the location of a house which seemed to be in a moving state several weeks ago and has now been set on blocks very near the Service Lane at US-90 and Dunbar Avenue.

Upon checking, we found the owners are stymied by an inability to get past powerlines with the house. They now plan to remove the roof of the structure before moving it to a new location on Felicite Street.

Today, you never know what is going to happen.

Congratulations are in order for Pat Kergosien who was second in state last Saturday in pole vault in high school double AA competition in track.

One of the problems for Pat was the fact that the pole vault winner set a state record in his win. The St. Stanislaus senior's high of 14 feet is getting way-up there.

In our editorial this week, we talk about motorists being extremely careful near our playgrounds.

Tuesday night, we were approaching US-90 from McLaurin two young boys were jogging down the highway.

If a motorist who was crossing US-90 would not have been extremely alert, she would have definitely run over one of them as he kept jogging across the intersection without looking.

To begin with, US-90 is not a place to be jogging, also there are a lot of directions in that particular area because of the nearby intersection and the large shopping center.

Children, just like motorists, also have to do their parts in observing traffic laws.

A special thank you to the motorist who stopped, as I would have witnessed something very terrible.

Legislators apparently numb to state lottery benefitting education

To the Editor:

It's been about four weeks since I wrote a letter on how to solve the problem of giving our teachers a pay raise and provide more money to improve the quality of education in general.

Well, evidently our elected representatives don't read the local paper or they are too embarrassed that they couldn't come up with the idea, which is so simple.

We, the silent majority, will remember come next election.

I still believe that a state-run lottery is the best way to raise money for needed programs of better education for Mississippi, and at the same time give people a chance to win some money and have fun.

Judicial Commission usurps voter's privilege in removing Anderson

May 3, 1982
Letters to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

I am writing in defense of Lloyd Anderson of District 3.

He was tried before a Hancock County Jury and found innocent of the charges made against him.

In my opinion he should not have been removed from office.

What is the use of trying someone here, if the Judicial Performance Commission can go over the decision of the jury and have someone removed from office?

Now our county is burdened with expenses for a special election.

I think Mr. Anderson has been given a dirty deal.

He should have been allowed to finish his term as Justice Court judge of District 3, then when re-election time came, leave it up to the voters in District 3 to decide if they want him or not.

I would like to know who is on this Judicial Performance Commission.

Seems to me there is something hidden in the woodpile besides wood.

Respectfully

critical school patron, newspaper

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor,

I can't say that I blame the School Board for being upset over Lynette Necaise's letter in the Sea Coast Echo or for being angry at the Sea Coast Echo itself.

They would have a lot easier job if no one noticed what they spent or did illegally. Fortunately they're people and newspapers like these and I say, "Keep up the good work."

Are we really expected to totally disregard everything that is going on in our school system even to the point where our children suffer?

What about the overcrowding situations in all our schools to the point where three classrooms of children are bused over railroad tracks four times daily?

How about the leaky roof on our school for which we paid more than $500,000 to be repaired?

What about the faulty playground equipment that is in such shape that recently one child had to be brought to the doctor with a large splinter in a very unseemly place?

What about children being held in detention in what is commonly referred to as the book room?

Are we never to ask any questions?

Are we expected to go to school board meetings when something that concerns us is on the agenda only to have a closed session suddenly called and be turned away?

I say "No." Keep it up, Ms. Necaise, and continue to print the truth, Sea Coast Echo, no matter whose toes you happen to step on.

If more people like these present more facts and ask more questions, then maybe, just maybe, we can have a school system we can be proud of.

Dear Sir:

The ninety-one plummy nobles and their five toy politicians should be subjected themselves someday in the next world to the same snotty inquisition they have assembled in Waveland for the teens of Harbor House.

How disgusting it is to unfold the newspaper and find that the furtive squeaks of a few Heeled and Happy suddenly have become a public policy to deny room in town for eight homeless girls.

The sitting Mayor cites a lack of parking. Others find the kitchen too small. Such verbal tarpaulins, I suggest, fall shorter than that in covering their euphemistic cold hearts.

The theme of the shameful proceedings was best put by the myopic petitioner who said, "Just think of the kind of people that will be in our neighborhood." Indeed, I am thinking of the unkind who already are, all ninety-six of them in oversized, goosey hats.

completed his studies at the University of Mississippi School of Law in 1976. While attending Ole Miss Law School, he was selected to serve on the Moot Court Board, based upon academic achievement.

Wessler feels the people are ready for a young and energetic Circuit Court judge. "The public is just not satisfied with the court system today. It can be made to work better. The civil trial dockets are overloaded and this case load can be expedited through the proper use of pre-trial conferences and pre-trial motions. Continuances should not be granted without a thorough examination of the facts."

Wessler is most concerned with the dramatic rise in crime. "Certainly, criminal defendants must be accorded their constitutional rights. But when a guilty verdict is reached by a jury, then it is up to the Judge to render a sentence that is strong enough to deter future crimes," Wessler says.

Wessler believes that his previous background makes him uniquely qualified to be Circuit Court Judge. He has prosecuted criminal cases as a legal intern and defended felony cases as a sole practitioner. Both plaintiffs and defendants have been represented by Wessler in a variety of civil law suits.

He has practiced before all local state courts and the Mississippi Supreme Court, as well as having practiced before the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit. Wessler is admitted to practice in all state and federal courts in Mississippi.

Wessler said, "I've also been fortunate enough to have had the opportunity to experience law from the judge's perspective while working with a federal judge for the past year."

Wessler is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Wessler and is married to the former Nancy Stokes of Gulfport.

WHY JAMES THOMAS SHOULD BE OUR NEXT CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE.

Over 2,000 cases are filed every year in the Circuit Court of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties. Tough cases. Like murder, rape and armed robbery.

Only three judges handle this enormous load. One judge is retiring this year.

So, when our new Circuit Court Judge takes the bench, he's got to have the experience to take charge. Immediately.

As our Assistant District Attorney, James Thomas has worked for us in the Circuit Court for nearly a decade. He's tried cases before thousands of jurors.

He knows the law. He knows how the Circuit Court works. And he's in touch with the people he serves.

"I share the frustrations people have with our criminal justice system. Equal protection under the law is the foundation of our democracy. But sometimes it seems like criminals are more equal than their victims."

"As Judge, I'll administer justice fairly, firmly and impartially. So criminals will think twice before they act."

James Thomas has spent his career in the judicial system of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties. He's prosecuted hundreds of cases in the very courtroom he'll preside over as judge. He has the knowledge and experience to be our next judge.

On June 1st, let's elect James Thomas, Circuit Court Judge, Place 1.

TIMBERLINE

With spring green-up well underway all over Mississippi a good many Sunday drivers are out enjoying the dogwoods blossoming along roads around the State.

Much-loved as one of nature's finest displays, especially when interspersed with dark pines, the flowering dogwood is extremely popular as an ornamental yard tree.

Indians liked it, too, for they used bark of the smaller roots to make a red dye. The split ends of small branchlets can be used as toothbrushes, and in fact some say they whiten teeth exceptionally well. Powdered bark can reportedly be made into a toothpaste; into black ink when mixed with iron sulphate; and, because the inner bark is bitter, into a quinine substitute.

In spring before the foliage appears, the dogwood's layered crown of white, pink or red bracts makes a spectacularly beautiful view and is likely to compel a head-turning second look.

Dogwoods are attractive to a variety of wildlife. Some 66 species of birds, including turkeys and bobwhites, eat the fruit, according to one published source. Squirrels like the bright red drupes that appear in late summer and fall, as well. Foresters often specify leaving trees like the dogwood when writing management prescriptions for timberland.

Cornus florida is its official name, and, unlike a lot of ornamental favorites such as azaleas and camellias that were originally exotics, it is native to America. Dogwoods are found from Maine to Florida across to Texas. They are widely distributed in Mississippi's uplands but are generally absent from the Mississippi River flood plain in their natural pattern.

Because the dogwood remains a small tree and thrives either in full sun or in partial shade as an understory, it can be used in many landscape plans when other trees would be unsuitable.

The flowering dogwood can be propagated from cuttings, budding and grafting. Grown from seed, it takes two years to germinate.

Ordinarily it bears flowers at age 10 to 12. In addition to the more common form, double-flowering and weeping forms are grown.

Although its growth is slower in South Mississippi than in other parts of the state, it has medium-fast growth under ideal conditions.

It likes well-drained soil, a low water table and acid soil. While it is very sensitive to heavy, poorly drained soils, it is also sensitive to drought, especially in hot months. It may begin to wilt and require watering if no rainfall occurs for a week or so.

There are several types of dogwood, but Cornus florida is the only one important for its wood. Hard and heavy, similar to hard maple, its wood is used for weaving spindles, bobbins, tool handles, mallets, golf club heads and wood engravings.

Drama teachers workshop slated

A June 1 workshop to help the non-theater major to learn the practical approach to teaching drama in the classroom will be offered at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The Creative Dramatics workshops is suitable for elementary and junior high teachers, according to director Dr. Warren Robertson. The credit may be used by teachers for recertification.

The goal of the workshop is to familiarize the teacher with theater skills and leadership techniques employed in creative dramatics. Creative dramatics is a group experience in which every child is guided to express himself.

The emphasis will be on the development of the child as a participant rather than on the final theatrical performance, said Robertson.

For additional information, contact Conferences and Workshops at 265-4189.

Growing Child

Few toddler fears inborn, most learned

COPING WITH FEAR

One of the problems of dealing with a child's fear is how to recognize when he is scared.

A young child is often unable to express feelings clearly because of a limited vocabulary. Then, too, a youngster may not recognize his own feelings as fear. He just knows that something is wrong and he feels all upset inside. So he responds by expressing his feelings in the only ways he knows—by crying, clinging, hiding, actively resisting—and by generally "being impossible."

Dealing with this kind of behavior can be very frustrating to parents. It is easy to say he is stubborn or having a tantrum. Even if the parent does recognize that the reason for such behavior is fear, it is often difficult to decide just how to cope with it, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

Fear is a normal human emotion—a natural means of self-protection. Certain fears appear to be inborn. A newborn infant responds with fear to the loss of support and to loud and sudden noises. All other fears are learned.

We consciously teach a child to be wary of objects or situations which are potentially harmful to him—fires, certain animals, strangers, a busy street. Some fears a child learns on his own. For instance, if he sees another child fall from a swing, he realizes that he, too, might fall. The next time he approaches a swing he will hold on tightly! Fears such as these are healthy because they tend to protect the child from real dangers.

Unrealistic fears are not unusual among toddlers either. In fact, strange or violent fears are quite common to children between ages two and six and should not alarm parents too much since they are usually a passing phase. On the other hand, such fears may be a sign that things are not going well.

You will want to help your child overcome his unrealistic fears, both for his benefit and your peace of mind. Recognition of a fear and reassurance to the child are important parts of dealing with the situation. Without this reassurance from you, a child can become more confused and more fearful.

Some of the more common fears include fear of certain animals, loud noises and sudden movements, fear of the dark, fear of going to bed or of going to sleep, and fear of separation from parents.

Most of these can be traced to their source: Animal fears may have their beginnings in an alarming experience with a neighbor's pet or a fright while visiting a zoo. This initial experience may lead to avoidance of stuffed animals or even those pictured in a book.

An over-enthusiastic relative who greets the child with loud laughter and smothering hugs may arouse considerable anxiety in a toddler. In fact, he may not only hide from that individual but show increasing fear of all persons outside the immediate family circle.

Fear of going to bed or of going to sleep is as much a fear of separation as a fear of the dark. A child may think that if he goes to sleep he won't find his parents there when he wakes up.

When coping with a youngster's fears it is important to remember that no matter how unreasonable, even ridiculous, his fear may seem to an adult, it is very real to him. Respect his feelings and reassure him gently that he need not be afraid.

If he shows fear of animals introduce him very gradually to their presence. Point out dogs and other animals from the car. When possible stop the car and let him watch from the safety of the vehicle.

Several visits to a children's "petting zoo" will be helpful. Don't force the child near animals. At the first visit just walk around and look. If your child shows anxiety or fear pick him up and hold him.

Somehow it is harder to be afraid of something that you are looking down on. Let him watch other children pet and play with the young animals. Talk about the baby animals and about their mammas.

It is pretty hard to tone down loud and over-demonstrative relatives, but sometimes visitors can be told in advance that the child is just learning to adjust to persons outside the family. They can be asked to wait until the child makes the first move.

Another approach is to pick up your youngster and hold him as you greet visitors. This includes him in the eye-level greeting and gives him the additional security of your arms. If he struggles or cries, comfort him and then interest him in something else. Young children are naturally curious and will usually overcome their fear of visitors if effusive greetings are avoided and they are allowed to proceed at their own speed.

Fear of the dark and fear of separation are sometimes difficult to separate. Begin by letting your child help you choose an attractive nightlight—a clown, a star, a happy face. Let him handle and examine the light so that he will be familiar with it.

Children's nightlights should be fully enclosed in plastic and dimmer than the ordinary nightlight. A quiet half hour of play and a warm bath before bedtime are recommended as relaxing for a child.

Reassure the child that you are near and that you will be there in the morning when he awakens. A youngster must learn trust. He needs to know that his parents will come when he needs them. Once he has been reassured you must be firm. He should not be allowed out of bed.

And—don't forget—an "ounce of prevention" goes a long way. Control your own fears and don't punish in fearful ways. If your child must undergo a potentially frightening experience, prepare him for it carefully.

When in doubt about how to handle your child's fears, talk to your pediatrician or family physician. He is as interested in your child's emotional health as he is in his physical well-being.

Father Lambert Stack, ST, pastor, officiated Mother's Day, Sunday May 9 when seven second graders received their First Holy Communion during the 9:30 a.m. Mass at St. Ann's Church.

Those receiving the Holy Eucharist for the first time were Tynell Warden, Chere Ladner, Dana Evans, Tommy Mauffray, Matthew Blackledge, Teddy Belsome and Dale Bilbo.

Participating in the liturgy doing the readings were two older CCD students, Sherri Smith and Missy Thornton.

Teachers of the Religious Education program who prepared the children for the happy event were Mrs. Mark Blackledge and Mrs. Teddy Belsome. Mrs. Judy Ladner assisted the teachers.

The families and friends celebrated with the children at a reception in their honor in the parish hall following the Mass.

Hancock Bank building dedication scheduled

Ceremonies dedicating the new 15-story Hancock Bank building, One Hancock Plaza, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, according to Leo W. Seal Jr., bank president.

Following dedication and ribbon cutting ceremonies, the bank building will be open for guided tours, refreshments, souvenirs and registration for almost $10,000 in cash and merchandise prizes to be given away during the gala open house event, Seal said.

The building will also be open again on Sunday afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. for tours and entertainment.

Throughout the weekend, open house activities will offer the Gulf Coast community an opportunity to participate in the gala festivities.

Free carnival rides for children will be set up on 26th Avenue and will operate from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday, and from 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

One Hancock Plaza is located in the heart of downtown Gulfport and houses a ground level shopping area, banking facilities and offices through the seventh floor, with non-banking office space on the upper floors available for short and long term leasing arrangements.

The 15th floor is reserved for a restaurant and private dining club in the near future.

The building is constructed on pilings driven to a depth of 100 feet. It stands to a height of 206 feet and covers a gross area of 249,200 square feet. More than 12,000 cubic yards of concrete and 1,280 tons of reinforcing steel were used in the superstructure.

1,103 windows, comprised of more than 2,500 sheets of glass, were installed to provide the elegant combination of aesthetics and function that is the essence of the complex.

Mexican Travertine marble is used for walls and floors on the first, second, third and seventh floors. Indolite brick, Italian marble strips and blue chip marble terrazzo are used in the first floor mall area.

One Hancock Plaza's many unique design features include an abstract outline of the Mississippi Gulf Coastline from Hancock County to Jackson County, which is carried thematically from the outside courtyard through the ground floor lobby area.

One Hancock Plaza is the tallest structure between New Orleans and Mobile and the tallest coastline building between Port Arthur and Tampa.

Cushman and Wakefield of New York City served as project consultants. Architects for the project were Perez and Associates of New Orleans, along with L. Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis and Philip W. Shaw of Gulfport.

Turner Construction, Inc. of Atlanta was general contractor.

The first piling was driven on June 12, 1979. Topping out ceremonies were held on October 31, 1980. In November of 1981, bank operations began to shift from the old eight-story building into the new $15 million One Hancock Plaza.

On November 30, 1981, Hancock Bank tellers began conducting business in the new facility, and by the end of December all departments had been completely relocated into the building and were fully operational.

His plan which accelerated movement of the docket, provided for prisoner reform and compensated victims for their loss received statewide attention as other cities used his program as a model.

The Gulfport attorney served as a special master (appointed judge) for the Harrison County Chancery Court. He is a charter member of the Mississippi Municipal Judges Conference and served as its president, vice president, board of directors member and legislative committee member.

While president of the judges association, Lindsey drafted legislation which led to the improvement and modernization of the state's judicial system.

His leadership also led to the adoption of uniform rules of procedure and uniform fines and penalties by municipal courts throughout the state which were hailed by Mississippi law makers and judges.

He is a former member of the National Conference of Special Court Judges and attended extensive courses of judicial study sponsored by the American Bar Association, the National Judicial College and the Mississippi Judicial College.

Lindsey received his bachelor of arts degree in political science and his law degree from the University of Mississippi.

He is a member of the Harrison County Bar Association, the Mississippi State Bar Association and the Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association.

He has practiced law in all state courts, federal district court; and the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

PROPOSED HARBOR HOUSE LOCATION—Stacks of lumber and building materials around a house, above, owned by Sidney Woods on Sidney Street in Waveland are evidence of apparent renovation work underway at the building. The owners plan to lease the house to the state for use as Harbor House, a home for neglected teenage girls, but surrounding residents object to the facility locating in Waveland and the City Board of Aldermen oppose the proposal also. Some eight girls are housed by Harbor House which is now located in the old Gex home, below, at the corner Gex and Courts Streets in Bay St. Louis. The state's lease with McDonald Realty expires at the end of this month when the firm plans to renovate the building. (Staff photos by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Hancock board loses majority of valuable 16th Section lease

The Hancock County School District agreed to sign over the majority of a valuable 16th section land lease to the Bay St. Louis School Municipal Separate School District Tuesday at a regularly scheduled meeting.

The board approved paying $150,474 in lease money from Saga Oil Company, retroactive since 1978, to the Bay school district.

The land, on the 16th Section of Township 8 South, Range 14 West is located near Buccaneer State Park and is occupied 86.6 percent by students who attend the Bay School District.

County School District Attorney Joseph Gex noted the lease money granted to the city school district is proportionate to the number of educable students in the city school district living on the land.

He noted the payment was retroactive from 1978—the date the lease became effective—since the Bay School District did not require the money until late 1980 or early 1981.

Hancock School Board members objected to the late claim by the Bay School District last year and requested Gex obtain an opinion from the attorney general's office.

Tuesday Gex said the Attorney General had ruled the county must pay the lease retroactive from 1978 since there is no time limit on when the claim should be made.

"We didn't have any choice," he said.

Shrimpers net severed head

Jackson County Coroner Benny Bryant said tests are being performed to determine the identity of a person whose head was found early Monday about five miles off the northern tip of the Chandeleur Islands.

The severed head, which was caught in a shrimp net, was turned over to the Jackson County coroner's office when Coast Guardsmen from Pascagoula responded to a call about the head.

Bryant said it is possible the head may be that of a 17-year-old Chicago youth who was believed drowned several days ago off the Chandeleurs.

The teeth from the head have been sent to a Hattiesburg orthodontist and other tests are being performed to aid in determining identity.

Bryant said it may be several days before the results of the tests are sent to him through Pascagoula police.

The Veterans Administration pays disability compensation to veterans for health problems incurred or aggravated while in military service. The amount is based on how serious the condition is. There is no time limit for filing a claim for this service-connected benefit. If you are already receiving compensation and believe your condition has worsened, contact the nearest VA office.

War veterans whose income is below certain limits — as of June 1, $4,960 for a war veteran without dependents, for example — and who are permanently and totally disabled may be eligible for a VA disability pension. Veterans 65 or over are considered totally disabled under this program, and unreimbursed medical expenses are taken into account in figuring the income limitation.

Veterans can get more information and assistance from any American Legion Post or Veterans Administration Office. — Michael J. Kogut, National Commander.

Board discusses Gulfview air conditioning with PTC

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County School Board Tuesday partially resolved who will purchase and install air conditioning units at Gulfview Elementary School when it met with members of the Gulfview Parent Teachers Club.

The PTC, mistakenly referred to as the PTO in a former article in The Sea Coast Echo, has raised some $7,000 for the units.

At a previous meeting board members raised questions about who should bid the job and supervise the work.

At that time Board Attorney Joseph Gex informed the school board that it could be liable for faulty installation regardless of whether the school district or the PTC supervised the work.

For that reason he advocated having the school district supervise the installation.

Tuesday some seven members of the PTC arrived at the school district offices to discuss the matter with the school board.

Many were angered over a recent article in The Sea Coast Echo which stated the group was apparently unwilling to donate funds raised for the window units to the school board.

Claudia Singleton, president of the PTC, Tuesday stated she had not been contacted by school officials concerning the issue of turning the money over to the school district.

However, following discussion of the issue at the Tuesday meeting, Singleton said she would prefer to have the PTC bid the job and have the board oversee the work.

Janet Bourgeois, treasurer of the PTC, also agreed with Singleton.

"We'll write the checks and you all approve the work," she stated.

Board member Monvel Cuevas told the women, "I don't want your money."

And Board Attorney Joseph Gex told board members they could get involved with the matter "as much as you want."

Gex again noted the board would be held liable for any accident resulting from faulty installation regardless of who installed the units.

Bourgeois told the board that the PTC currently does not have enough money to purchase and install the units.

She estimated after the meeting that each unit might cost $900 each.

In addition to wanting units placed in some 16 classrooms in Gulfview, Bourgeois and Singleton stated they also wanted to have three units placed in Clermont Harbor School.

Members of the PTC inquired whether Louie Ladner, board member and electrician, would be willing to donate time and labor to install the units at Gulfview as he did last year at Hancock North Central Elementary.

However, he was not present at the Tuesday meeting.

Also Singleton said the PTC was willing to pay Board Architect John Mykolyk six percent of the lowest bid for installation of the units.

Mykolyk has already prepared bid specifications for the job and presented the wiring plans to the board this past week.

In other business, the board was informed by the Gulfview PTC members that the roof of Gulfview School is leaking and that a hallway in the building flooded during a heavy rainstorm two weeks ago.

Board member Woodrow Ladner claimed the leak may have been caused by repair men who failed to seal a vent in a heating unit repaired earlier this year.

The women disagreed and stated the entire hallway had been flooded.

Also Tuesday the board approved a $150,474 payment to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District for a 16th Section land lease near Bucanier Park.

Board member Cuevas noted money from the lease is retroactive from June 17, 1978.

"We didn't know it was due them," he said.

Following the meeting, Gex stated the Bay School District did not request the payment until late 1980 or 1981.

Heltmann and Joseph Gex; Merchants Bank, coached by Donald Cuevas and M.J. Gleason; Riemann's, coached by Bill Warren and Doug McKay.

National League teams (players nine and ten years old) and their coaches, are: Coastal Insurance, coached by Mike DeDeaux and Gene Moran; Kergosien's Insurance, coached by Joe Davis and Steve Davis; Little Mushroom, coached by Steve Van Skiver; and Treutel Insurance, coached by John Necaise.

Kergosien takes second in State Track Meet

St. Stanislaus pole vaulter Pat Kergosien finished second in the District Eight Class AA State Track Meet Saturday in Jackson with his vault of 14 feet.

Kergosien, a senior at St. Stanislaus, was topped only by a vaulter from Cleveland, Miss. who won the event with a vault of 14 feet seven-and-three-quarter inches.

Coch Vernon Powell stated he was very pleased with Kergosien's performance at the State Meet and throughout the season.

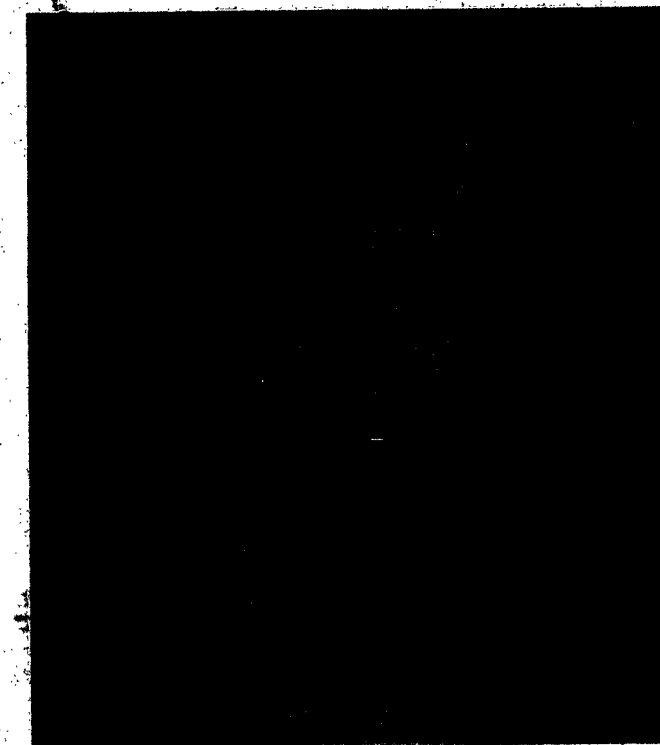

"He won every other meet of the year," Powell noted.

The vault by Kergosien was only one-half an inch short of a former state record.

Kergosien, who decided to miss graduation ceremonies at St. Stanislaus to compete in the event, has been offered a track scholarship at the University of Southern Mississippi.

In other action in the State Competition in the District VIII Class A competition, the Bay High School girls' mile relay team composed of Karen Elzy, Dina Benoit, Salaina Gates and Robin Jackson, finished fourth in mile relay.

Also, Bay High senior Adrian Saucier finished seventh in the mile run to complete the list of Hancock Athletes who qualified and competed in the state track competition.

AWARD WINNER—Pat Kergosien, St. Stanislaus senior, received the Student-Athlete Award for 1961-62. This award, named in memory of Brother Alban Tucker, was presented at the annual senior supper when seniors are inducted into the St. Stanislaus Alumni Association. Kergosien participated in football and track while maintaining an A average in his academic work. He is the son of Mrs. Barbara Kergosien and the late Phil Kergosien. (SSC photo)

Hancock boxers take honors in Gulf State Tournament

Two Hancock boxers, both fighting for the Gulfport Boxing Club, took second place honors in the Gulf States Tournament conducted last weekend in the International Plaza in Biloxi.

Thirteen-year-old Wayne Karl of Waveland, fighting in the 70 pound intermediate division, took second place in the three day boxing competition.

Team mate Jimmy Bourgeois, also of Waveland, brought home a second place medal for his efforts in the competition.

Karl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Karl, fought Dwayne Johnson of Frog Capital Friday and defeated his opponent with a knock-out five seconds into the first round. Later Friday night, Karl defeated Andy Murray of Tennessee.

But during the finals Sunday, Karl lost bout to David Gonzales of Texas to take second place for the Gulf States.

Bourgeois, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bourgeois of Waveland, drew a bye Friday and Saturday to go directly into the finals on Sunday against Tony Spivey of Ruston La.

The 15-year-old Bourgeois lost the final fight with a split decision in the 80 pound senior division.

Chuck Karl, the brother of Wayne Karl, lost Friday to Rod Cardell of Lake Charles, La. by a split decision.

The loss stopped chances of the 11-year-old Karl from continuing on to further action in the 65 pound junior division.

Eddie Bennett of Pearlinton, also fighting for the Gulfport Club won his first bout Friday against Jarvis Broussard of the YMCA Boxing Club in Orange, Miss. But in his second bout against Matt Cannett of Ocean Springs stopped Karl in the 80 pound junior division and ended his hopes of advancing to the finals.

David Bennett, a 14-year-old from Pearlinton fighting in the 100 pound intermediate division, won his first fight against Tommy Cannett of Ocean Springs.

The victory carried him into action Saturday against Tyrone Smith of Roy Jones Boxing Club.

Karl lost that bout by a close split decision.

Also competing in the three day event were Bay-Klin-Waveland boxers Bruce Johnson, Troy McKee, Cory Johnson, Jeremy Wilson, Tony Guarnieri and Todd Rooks.

The boxers will be preparing for the Junior Open tournament May 12, 13 and 14 in Ocean Springs.

Rod and Gun Club names outstanding fishermen

The Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club, at its annual Children's Fishing Rodeo May 1, at the Bay St. Louis Municipal pier at the end of Uman Avenue, named Clyde Koerner king fisherman and Rhonda Bilbo queen fisherman.

In the speckled trout category, first place went to Clyde Koerner; second place to Rhonda Bilbo; and third place to Kevin Ladner.

In the blue gill category, first place went to Rhonda Bilbo; second place to Kevin Ladner; and third place to Clyde Koerner.

came in second in that category with Ronnie Bourgeois coming in third.

First place in the ground mullet category went to Billy Ross; second place to Rhonda Bilbo; and third place to Kevin Ladner. Darin Bilbo won first place in the sheepshead category, with Kevin Ladner, second place, and Mike Weems, third place.

In the drum category, Kevin Ladner won first place; second place to Rhonda Bilbo; and third place to Clyde Koerner.

The biggest croaker was caught by Rhonda Bilbo, with a 12-pounder.

Sally Dahl won first, second, and third place in the blue gill category, with Matthew Cameron winning first, second and third in the Shell Cracker division.

The largest fish of the rodeo was caught by Mike Weeks with 17½ pounds. Harris catching the second largest and Billy Ross coming in third.

The Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club would like to express its sincere thanks to the local officials and merchants who helped make this rodeo possible.

Also in the rodeo, cash prizes were given to the winners in each category. Rhonda Bilbo won first place in the speckled trout category, with Kevin Ladner, second place, and Mike Weems, third place.

Clay Koerner won first place in the blue gill category, with Rhonda Bilbo, second place, and Kevin Ladner, third place.

SPRING TRAINING—St. Stanislaus Assistant Football Coach Vernon Powell puts his team through the paces recently in preparation for an intersquad scrimmage this Thursday at 4:30 p.m. between a red and white team at the St. Stanislaus Field. The game will conclude the Rock-A-Chows' past three weeks of spring training. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

BWYC racers take Alfonso, GYA Opening Regattas

A team of Bay-Waveland Yacht Club juniors won the Alfonso Junior Regatta held at Gulfport Yacht Club May 8 and 9.

Sailing in Flying Scots, the junior team skunked the six other competing club teams. Peter Merrifield took second place in Saturday's first race; Matt Stieffel and Adam Sleep took Saturday's second race and won it; Adam and Peter crewed.

Liz Merrifield took the helm in Sunday's race, with Peter and Matt as crew. She finished fourth, which assured a victory in the series.

One junior club race was sailed at BWYC on Saturday. In the two-boat battle, Laura Bell defeated Michael White. Dennis Stieffel and Steve Maggio crewed for Laura; Rod Stieffel and Cathy Treutel crewed for Michael.

The newly organized Ladies Class sailed its first race Sunday afternoon. The competition was extremely close, with less than thirty seconds separating the first and last boats at the finish.

Kay Ward, helped by crew Rod Stieffel and Chris Trapani, won the race.

Weezie Kennedy took second place; her crew was Grace Santa Cruz and Mary Ladner. In third place was Dootsie Murphy with crew Dennis Stieffel and Lucien Gex. Elaine Bell was fourth; Corky Hadden and Michael White crewed.

Carey Trapani won Sunday's Expert Class race; Dennis Stieffel and Chris Merrifield crewed. In second place was Bishop Stieffel, with crew Gus Gelpi and Tom Allen. Michael White took third, with Harry Chapman and Rod Stieffel as crew.

First place in Sunday's Lipton Class race went to Rod Stieffel, with Peter and Chris Merrifield crewing. Dennis Stieffel, with crew Liz Merrifield and Michael White, was second. In third place was Don Chamberlain; Corky Hadden and Gordon Boh were his crew.

The PHRF Handicap Class also raced on Sunday. Anthony Trapani in "The Hummi II" took first place, and Ballard Argus in the "Chopsley" was second. Gordon Boh, sailing his recently restored Fish Boat finished third.

Peter Morrill and Chuck Breath served as race committee chairmen for the weekend.

OPENING REGATTA
Bay-Waveland Yacht Club hosted the Gulf Yachting Association Opening Regatta May 1 and 2.

The sixty-second annual meeting of the GYA was held in conjunction with the regatta, and was highlighted by the installation of the GYA Flag Officers for 1962-1963.

Henry G. Chapman of BWYC is the new commodore, succeeding Roy L. Sellers Jr. of Buccaneer Yacht Club in Mobile.

Other incoming officers are Vice Commodore Robert K. Boyle of Pensacola Yacht Club; Rear Commodore Jerry J. Ellis of Biloxi Yacht Club, and Secretary-Treasurer Michael S. Johnson of Fort Walton Yacht Club.

Secretary-treasurer emeritus is Mrs. J. Gilbert Scheib of Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans.

for hungry sailors even after a light rain began to fall. Music was provided by May Heitzman.

Sunday's trophy presentation ceremony was the occasion for awarding the Commodore Auguste Capdevielle Trophy for 1961. This perpetual trophy goes each year to the GYA club with the highest point total from all GYA-Capdevielle scheduled regattas. It was won by Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

By Lea C. McIntosh

Saturday evening, Commodore and Mrs. Chapman hosted a cocktail party for the GYA officers, Board of Directors, and other officers of the GYA member clubs.

The officers in their navy blue blazers and their ladies in bright summer dresses assembled at dusk on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stieffel of Bay St. Louis.

Following the Commodore's Party, a steak fry was held in the club dining room. Anthony Trapani, Alan Noonan, and Fred Fayard manned the grills out on the deck, cooking Edgar W. Santa Cruz Jr., as commodore of the opening regatta host club, presented the trophy to Walter Chamberlain, chairman of the BWYC race committee.

Santa Cruz also presented the Commodore Leslie P. Beard Trophy which is awarded each year to the GYA club with the most outstanding junior program. Bay-Waveland won this too.

The Beard Trophy was accepted by Gordon Boh, BWYC Junior Advisor for 1981.

Four classes of one-design boats competed in the opening regatta; two races in each class were sailed on Saturday and one on Sunday.

Jack Bell served as regatta chairman.

Flying Scot teams from fourteen GYA clubs competed for the Commodore J. Gilbert Scheib Trophy, awarded each year to the winning GYA club in the opening regatta.

In this series, Saturday's first race was won by Kenny Kleinschrodt of Buccaneer Yacht Club. Mike Johnson Jr. of Fort Walton was second, and Mike Pickich of Pass Christian Yacht Club was third.

In Saturday's second race, Dennis Stiefel of BWYC took first place; his crew was Matt Stiefel and Liz Merrifield. Second place went to Ralph Pringle of Biloxi Yacht Club, and third to Helen Johnson of Fort Walton.

Sunday's race was again won by BWYC; Bubby Eagan skippered with crew Liz Merrifield and Corky Hadden. Tommy Taggart of Southern was second, and Mike Johnson, Sr. of Fort Walton was third.

In the final series results, the BWYC team won both the Opening Regatta and the Scheib Trophy, which was presented by GYA Commodore Chapman to BWYC Commodore Santa Cruz.

A special group of GYA Flying Scot sailors competed for the Commodore John Dane Trophy. In this series, all skippers and crews must be at least fifty years old, and the event is known as the "Old Timers Regatta". Five clubs participated.

Bubba Weatherly of Gulfport Yacht Club won the first Old Timers race on Saturday; Temple Brown of Southern won the second Saturday race.

Gulfport also won Sunday's race, with Don Sutter at the helm.

The Dane Trophy was awarded to the Gulfport team of Weatherly, Sutter, and Clifton Vick. Second place in the series went to Virginia Brown of Fort Walton, and third place to Temple Brown of Southern.

Don Chamberlain, entering the competition just for the final race, sailed for Bay-Waveland.

The Sunfish class had four entries, all from BWYC. Adam White won the three-race series, with one second-place finish and two firsts. Ann Stiefel took second place honors, with one win and two seconds. Carey Trapani was third in all three races and third in the series.

Thirteen Snipe class boats from five GYA clubs sailed in the regatta.

Steve Suddath of Pensacola Yacht Club won all three races and the series. Joe Blouin of Southern finished second in each race and won second place overall. Third place in the series went to John B. Potts II of Southern.

Sunday's Snipe race furnished the most spectacular finish in the regatta, as Eric Aschaffenburg of Southern, engaged in a close battle for tenth place, nosed his bow across the finish line and promptly capsized. The boat was righted without mishap.

State signs sports broadcast agreement

Mississippi State University and Mississippi Agricultural and News Networks, a division of Interstate Communications, Inc., have announced a three-year contract with a two-year option for one of the largest broadcast and promotional agreements in the history of college athletics.

The agreement is valued at over a half-million dollars.

Director of Athletics, Carl Maddox of MSU and Steve Davenport, assistant vice president of Interstate Communications and general manager of Mississippi Network, made the joint communique.

The contractual pact involves the radio production of Mississippi State's football and basketball games, weekly radio coaches' shows during the seasons, and the added areas of souvenir programs and cable television playbacks.

Since Bulldog football games were first broadcast by Mississippi Network in 1979, the package has expanded to 64 stations. MSU's basketball network is also one of the largest in the South.

"We are pleased with the production of football and basketball games by the Mississippi Network group over the last three years," Maddox said. "The Network reaches a much larger portion of the population both in-state and out-of-state than ever before, and we are anticipating even greater coverage in the next three years." "Our association with Mississippi State has been rewarding," Davenport stated, "and with the increased emphasis by Mississippi Network on sports promotions, we look forward to bright prospects with MSU's overall athletic program."

In 1981-82, Mississippi Network began the popular "Coach's Hotline" shows on Thursday nights with Coach Emory Bellard and Coach Bob Boyd, and these will remain vital aspects of the total package.

The Network's sports director, Rick Current, also expressed excitement about the agreement.

"In effect, the Network will be considered as a promotional arm of Mississippi State Athletics," he said.

"In all my years of sports and broadcasting, this has to be one of the most outstanding and comprehensive contracts ever signed with an athletic department," Current added. "Mississippi State has an aggressive and rapidly-improving athletic program, and we're glad to be involved in it."

Mississippi Network serves some 70 radio stations throughout Mississippi with news, sports, and agriculture programming. Interstate Communications also owns and operates Louisiana Network, based in Baton Rouge.

Mississippi State University Athletic Director Carl Maddox, left, and Mississippi Network's Steve Davenport review new sports broadcasting contract.

SHAKESPEARE
The next presentation in "The Shakespeare Plays" on Mississippi ETV is "Troilus and Cressida" at 8 p.m., Monday, May 17.

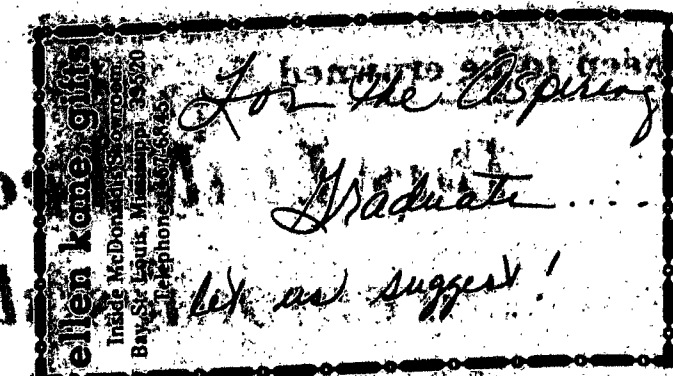

One of Shakespeare's least known and most intriguing plays, "Troilus and Cressida" presents a world that is devoid of values. The characters are more concerned with appearances than with realities. They all want to be perceived as honorable, but few are willing to take the risks that a life of honor demands.

Fight expert concensus gives slight edge to Cooney

On Friday, June 11, fight fans all over the world will see the biggest money sports championship event in history, as Gerry Cooney and Larry Holmes meet for the World Heavyweight Championship.

The bout will be held in Las Vegas, Nevada, and will be seen in almost 1,000 closed-circuit television outlets in the United States and Canada.

The fight will be seen via satellite on every continent. Cooney and Holmes will each receive a reported ten million dollars.

This is more than the winning teams share of the Super Bowl and the World Series combined.

The big question is "Who's going to win the fight?"

Twelve "experts" were asked this question, and here is what they said:

Bob Arum, president of Top Rank, Inc.:

"Holmes, because Cooney can't go more than a few rounds. Holmes should knock him out about the eighth or ninth round. It's going to be a tough fight for Holmes—a Cooney, a good left jab. He's fast and is not going to get sucked into a corner like Norton and other Cooney opponents. Larry will outpoint him in 15 rounds."

Don Dunphy, announcer of over 50 heavyweight championship fights:

"Let me say this, before the Holmes Snipes fight, I was convinced that Cooney wasn't ready for Holmes. But now I think he is. Snipes was able to knock him down and didn't follow up. If Cooney knocks him down, he's going to follow. Cooney's hits so much faster than any heavyweight since Ali, and with more power. On the negative side for Holmes, I think he left open question about his own punching power. He hit Snipes with eight to ten right hands and couldn't knock him off his feet."

Angelo Dundee, Manager and Trainer:

"The Cooney-Holmes fight is this kind of fight: Cooney early; Holmes late. If Holmes survives the first three rounds, then it will be Holmes."

Jim Jacobs, Manager and Fight Film Collector:

"I would pick Larry Holmes. I pick him on the basis that he has fought better opposition and also he has been terribly active."

Lou Duva, Manager:

"I'm picking Cooney because of his punching ability. It's going to be about a six-round fight in favor of Cooney if he fights the fight I think he's going to fight that is keep on him and keep punching."

Jose Torres, writer and former Light Heavyweight Champion:

"I believe Cooney needed a fight prior to the Holmes fight. Without a tune-up, it makes me reluctant to pick him. He is one of those fighters with the potential to go all the way, and

John Condon, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing:

"I like Holmes. I think he's got what he needs to beat him. Holmes is a tough fight to pick. I wish them both luck and want to fight the winner."

Boxing fans on the Gulf Coast can see the live closed circuit show in Biloxi at the Coliseum. Tickets are on sale in Bay St. Louis at Loiacano's Health Club corner Main and St. Francis Streets.

any advice. I pick Cooney by a knockout in the late rounds."

Mike Marley, sportswriter, New York Post:

"It's a fight that you have to look at in two distinct sections. From round one to three, I think Cooney is a slight favorite. It's not beyond my belief that Cooney could wipe him out in two or three rounds, but after five or six rounds, the edge goes to the champion. Just as Holmes was a fighter of destiny when he won the championship from Ken Norton, I think Cooney is a fighter of destiny in this fight. I think he's going to become the heavyweight champion by a kayo in the fifth."

Renaldo Snipes, heavyweight contender:

"I think it's going to be a good fight. My fight against Holmes took a lot out of him. Before my fight everybody thought that Holmes would kill Cooney. Since I knocked him down, now people think Cooney should walk over him. My fight took a lot out of him physically and mentally. But Cooney may not be quick enough to do what I did to

Dr. Freddie Pacheco, NBC-TV Analyst:

"Larry Holmes—anytime he wants to. Period. The reason is inexperience and inactivity will do young Mr. Cooney in. And that's it."

Gil Clancy, CBS-TV Analyst:

"I like Cooney in this fight. I think he is too big and strong for Holmes. I see the fight ending early, by a knockout, in six or seven rounds. As for the Snipes fight, it is going to give Cooney more confidence. He sees that Holmes can be hurt, and I also think, in the back of his mind, Holmes knows that he can be hurt pretty good. Cooney is such a big guy. People don't realize how big he is."

Rich Giachetti, former trainer of Holmes:

"Cooney can't take Holmes lightly. But Cooney could definitely upset him. If Larry fights the way I taught him—jabbing and moving—he'll win. But if he fights any differently, he's in trouble. Holmes should box four or five rounds, wear him down. Remember, Larry has gone the distance before, but Cooney never has. But if Larry fights like he has in his past three fights, then Cooney will win. Larry isn't the same fighter without me in his corner. He doesn't listen, or take any advice. I pick Cooney by a knockout in the late rounds."

Ole Miss schedules golf camps

Young golfers ages 10 through high school seniors graduating in 1983 have the opportunity to receive professional instruction in golf basics at the 1982 Ole Miss Boys Golf Camp June 7-12 and June 14-19 at The University of Mississippi.

Ole Miss golf coach Ernest Ross will direct the camp, which will feature individual instruction in all phases of golf including chipping, putting, sand shots, iron play, wood play, specialty shots and game management. Through group instruction, golfers will study rules of golf, etiquette and self-improvement drills. All golfers will learn exercises for toning and strengthening muscles.

Participants will be divided into groups for beginners and advanced students, and instruction will stress swing fundamentals and hard work, according to Ross. Each camp will be limited to 40 golfers, and applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Ole Miss Golf Club will be used for instruction and practice during each camp. The course is a championship layout with large practice area, putting green, practice sand traps and indoor teaching areas.

During free time, campers will have access to the University's AAU-sized outdoor pool, as well as recreational facilities of the Ole Miss Union. Campers will be housed in a modern, air-conditioned dormitory and will be supervised 24 hours a day by trained personnel. Meals will be served in the University Cafeteria.

The $225 registration fee includes the cost of instruction, housing, meals, accident insurance, certificate, sun visor and camp shirt.

Detailed information about the camp is available through Ole Miss Golf Camp, Division of Continuing Education, University, MS 38677 (telephone 601-232-7222).

Add to the collection five distinctive cutting boards and two convenient storage holders and you can have the ultimate assortment of kitchen knives and accessories which will last and last for years to come. All items carry our famous EKCO ETERNA five-year warranty.

All handles are specially contoured for easy use and are made of 100% PAKKAWOOD. It is a combination of northern and tropical hardwood and phenolic resin blended together through the use of extremely high pressure and heat. In a few hours the mixture has been able to do what has taken Mother Nature thousands of years to accomplish—produce a type of material similar to petrified wood. Our PAKKAWOOD handles are resistant to burns, bacteria stains, liquid household acids as well as being dishwasher safe. Under normal use it will not chip, peel, break, crack or split. No two handles look exactly alike because the natural grain of the wood is retained in the process.

Eko's CLASSIC CUTLERY blades are specifically made for hard kitchen use. The true beauty and cutting ability of the blade is the perfect combination of carbon and chromium which produces a fine quality stainless steel alloy. It is especially suited for kitchen knives because it is resistant to rust corrosion and withstands repeated, prolonged exposure to moisture that stains and dulls ordinary steel.

Meal preparation calls for much cutting, slicing, dicing, chopping, coring, boning or trimming, and it is impossible for one knife to do all these tasks easily, swiftly and well.

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

We all want to get the most return on our savings dollar and yet we are confused about all the options available. The next three weeks this column will deal with (in a very simplistic way) "Shopping for Savings."

How much should you keep in a savings account? The general rule is to save two to six months income. But a better guide for your family might be to calculate exactly how much you need to achieve your goals and meet annual and semiannual expenses. You will need a fund for emergencies. By having "earmarked" funds, you will not be as likely to make withdrawals for unplanned spending.

There are many ways of saving money. Choose the best saving instruments to meet your goals. Your choice will be based on what you want to achieve and when you plan to use the money. Shop and compare methods of saving.

Analyze these savings instruments: passbook accounts, interest paying checking accounts, United States savings bonds - Series E and H, life insurance cash value, certificates of deposits, and money market certificates. Savings options can be divided into those with no time restrictions and those with time restrictions. There is a rule of thumb in savings that the more liquid the account, the lower the interest rate. The less liquid the account, the higher the interest rate. The word "liquidity" refers to the ease with which you can get your hands on your money immediately without advance notice or penalty. It is illiquid or frozen if you cannot get at the money until some future date. The convenience of a liquid savings account is usually paid for by a lower interest rate than is available for a less liquid account.

A second type of savings account is a "time deposit account," often called by marketing names, such as "gold passbook," "savings certificate," or "investment certificates." Such accounts pay higher than passbook interest but contain restrictions on how long you must leave your money in them and when you can get it back. Be sure you are very clear about what these restrictions are before you open such an account.

PROMPT ANSWERS IMPROVE CHANCES

QUESTION: I am about to put my house up for sale. What questions will most likely be asked by the people who look at it? K. O. Jackson

ANSWER: Dear K. O.

If you are trying to sell your home, here is a list of questions commonly asked by potential buyers. See how many of these you can answer in regard to your own home.

What date are you planning to move? You should be able to tell a potential buyer when you expect to move. In many instances the buyer of your home is also selling a home and needs to know what to tell the buyer at the other end.

Why are you moving? Buyers like to know the answer to this question. They like to hear that the reason you are selling is because of a job transfer or that you have built a home on some land you have owned for a long time. No response to this question may cause them to think you are trying to unload a house full of problems.

What is the status of the current mortgage? You should know the current balance on your mortgage as well as the interest rate and the number of years remaining on the loan. Most important, find out if the loan can be assumed by a qualified buyer.

Are you willing to finance part of the purchase price? You should think about owner financing and be ready to respond to a question that most likely will be asked.

How old is the home and who built it? Surprisingly, many owners cannot answer this question. The age is important because of wear and tear on equipment, carpeting, and roof.

Have you maintained records of utility expenses, maintenance costs, and annual taxes? You should have kept such records; if you do have them, make them available. To say you do not have any idea as to utility bills may lead a potential buyer to believe your home costs more to heat and cool than it should.

Is the home completely insulated and with what type of material? Energy efficiency helps sell a house, so if your home has storm windows or new insulation, point out these improvements.

Do you plan to include draperies, appliances and other items in the sale? If possible, be definite in regard to these items.

Have you made recent improvements or additions, such as new appliances or a ceiling fan? If you have, point them out.

This type of information can be of great help to you or your broker. If a buyer's questions can be answered quickly and precisely your chances of making a home sale can only improve.

For answers to your questions, write Dr. Dennis Tosh, POB 295, University, MS 38677.

OH, NO! A FLAME-RETARDANT has changed since the driver of this 1910 REO pulled over to change a flat. The problem was in the same. Brad Sears demonstrates the basic task of driving a flat on "The Last Chance Garage" at 4 p.m., Saturday, May 15, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Johnston, Diboll top Bay High graduates

Tammy Johnston is valedictorian and Donald Diboll is salutatorian of Bay Senior High School's Class of 1982.

Robert V. Magee, Bay High principal, said the school's graduation exercises will begin at 8 p.m. Friday at Tiger Stadium. Some 132 seniors are expected to receive diplomas.

Ms. Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston of Bay St. Louis, maintained a four-year average of 98.68.

She was chosen "Senior Girl Most Likely to Succeed" by her classmates and has been a straight "A" Alpha Honor Roll student throughout high school.

She has been a member of the Chorus for three years and the French Club for two years.

Ms. Johnston is a member of the National Honor Society, and as a senior, is secretary of that organization.

Diboll, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Donald W. Diboll of Waveland, earned an average of 97.93 for four years.

He has been a member of the Student Council for three years, the Latin Club two years, and as a senior, is president of both organizations.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, and has been an Alpha Honor Roll student throughout high school.

He is a three year member of the Tiger basketball team, and as a senior is captain of the team.

Diboll was a member of the Chorus one year, and as a Junior, was a Boy's State Delegate.

He was chosen "Senior Boy Most Likely to Succeed" by his classmates, and for his role in the Senior Play "Tom Sawyer," was presented an Actor Achievement Award.

Bay high displays annual foreign language exhibits

MARIE ANTOINETTE—Bay High School French students, from left, Stephanie Power and Mary Langenbacker display models they made of the famous French queen's bedroom and prison cell for the recent Bay High School Annual Foreign Language Fair. The bedroom chandelier lights up and the rooms are reported to be exact replicas of Antoinette's living quarters before she was beheaded.

ROMAN ARCHITECTURE—Latin student Kristin Ling displays her project which won first place in a recent Bay High School Annual Foreign Language Fair. Ling constructed a booklet of photographs, some of which are her own, of Roman architectural forms that are still used all over the world today. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

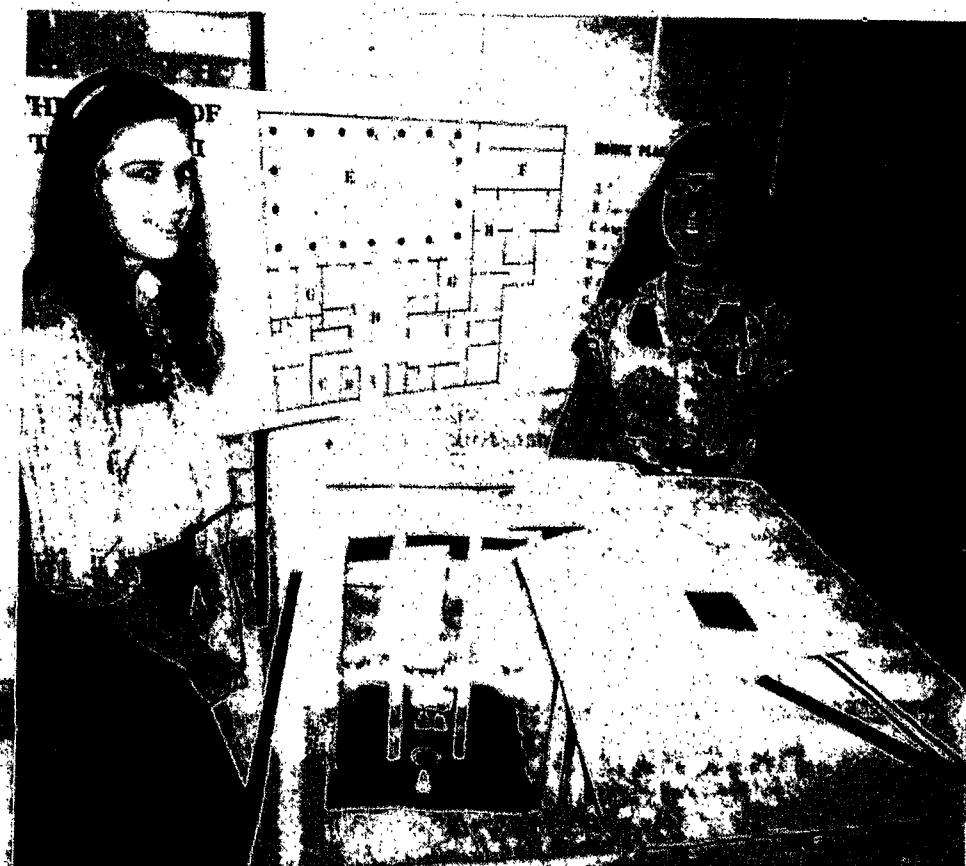

ROMAN CROSS BOW—Latin students Jerry Manieri, left, and Timmy Adam display an authentic copy of Roman cross bow they made for an Annual Foreign Language Fair at Bay High School recently. The bow works, and can shoot an arrow more than 100 yards.

FRENCH AWARD WINNERS—French students David Raynaud, left, and Gwendolyn Kelly, right, display their award-winning model of a French house, which won first place in the Annual Foreign Language Fair at Bay High School recently. The model is a replica of a French house and includes a model of a French house, a model of a French house, and a model of a French house. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

FRENCH BAKERY—French student Sherrie Kocak displays her model of a French bakery, which won the tri-color (overall) award for the best exhibit in the recent Annual Foreign Language Fair at Bay High School. The model showed workers in the bakery working, and the bakery was in the window. The family lived in the quarters above the bakery. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

VETTI HOUSE—Lisa Montgomery, left, and Beth Kelly win the Tri-Color Award in the Latin division at the Annual Foreign Language Fair at Bay High School recently. The Latin students' joint-project is a model of the House of Vetti which was completely covered when Mt. Vesuvius erupted in 79 A.D. The house was later unearthed by archaeologists completely intact. The house features a peristyle, a colonnaded garden with fountains and a pool and also an atrium. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

ST. STANISLAUS award winners at the school's 128th Commencement Exercises, pictured with Brother Paul Mulligan, principal, are front from left, Hunt Vegas, Richard Corley, Robert Zanca, Brennan Collins and Ken France; and back from left, Tommy Zanca, Justin Jones, Skip Horne, Robert Brown, John Gallagher and Brother Paul (SSC photo)

Vegas takes SSC President's Award

Hunt Vegas of Bay St. Louis received the President's Award, highest honor bestowed on a graduating senior, at commencement exercises of the 128th graduating class of St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis Saturday.

Brother William Leimback, SC, was director of the graduation in Our Lady of The Gulf Catholic Church.

Following the conferring of diplomas upon the 96 members of the graduating class and the members of the Golden Jubilee Class of 1932, Brother Thornton presented awards to the following graduates:

Ken France, John Philip Sousa Award; Richard Corley, Chamber of Commerce Award; Tommy Zanca, Character Cup for A Day Student; Skip Horne, American Legion Award; John Gallagher, Character Cup for A Resident Student; and Justin Jones, Character Award for A Resident Student. Also, Robert Brown, Conduct Award for a Resident Student; Robert Zanca, Excellence in Business Subjects; Vegas, Excellence in Science; Horne, Excellence in Social Studies and Excellence in Humanities; and Vegas, Excellence in Mathematics.

Horne received the Valedictorian Award and Vegas received the Salutatorian Award. The St. Stanislaus Alumni Association Award was merited by Brennan Collins.

Dance theater slates auditions

The Gulf Coast Dance Theatre will hold auditions for the 1982-1983 season on Saturday, May 22 at the Magnolia Hotel Loft in Biloxi. The audition class for the apprentice company will be from 9:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. and the company audition class will be from 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Results will be posted after each class. The audition classes are free of charge. Auditions are being held early because the Gulf Coast Dance Theatre will be presenting the "Nutcracker Ballet" on December 10, 11 and 12 at the Saenger Theater in Biloxi, and selection of dancers for roles will begin this summer. Company ballet classes and rehearsals are conducted by Mrs. Cheryl Black, artistic director.

Apprentice company and company classes will continue throughout the summer at the Magnolia Hotel. The Gulf Coast Dance Theatre is a non-profit civic organization dedicated to the betterment of dance, Black said. For information concerning the dance company or the auditions call 875-0691, 832-2850 or 255-3209.

Ole Miss schedules orientation events

Future college students from throughout the South are expected to attend the eight counseling and pre-registration conferences scheduled for this summer at The University of Mississippi.

The conferences are planned for June 6-8, June 13-15, June 20-22, June 27-29, July 11-13, July 18-20, July 25-27 and Aug. 1-3.

Students graduating from high school or transferring from any senior or junior college are eligible to participate in the three-day sessions, which will include testing, orientation and instructional meetings, test preparation, individual counseling and pre-registration. Students who are interested in attending Ole Miss but who have not applied for admission also may attend the conferences.

Three Parents' Days are planned in conjunction with the counseling and pre-registration sessions. Parents of students who will be entering the University in the fall are invited to attend one of the Parents' Days, scheduled for June 21, July 12 and July 26.

More information on the counseling and pre-registration conferences and Parents' Days is available through the Student Counseling Center, The University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677 (telephone 601-232-7021). Mississippi residents may call the University's toll free admissions number, 1-800-222-5102.

Hancock Library tells summer reading events

The Hancock County Library System's Summer Reading Program for 1982 will begin June 7, according to Rebecca Mitchum, children's librarian.

Open to all school-age children, the programs being offered at Bay St. Louis, Kiln and Waveland Libraries. This year each library will offer a variety of program activities which feature the mythical, magical, mystical days of yore.

Among the events planned are a sword, shield and helmet craft, a magic show, two feature films, a puppet craft, and an old-fashioned games day.

Participants in the reading program will receive bookmarks, reading records, and certificates as part of the six week program. The reading program is coordinated by the Mississippi Library Commission and is being offered throughout the state.

"Hancock County's summer readers are invited to join during these 'Mythical, Magical, Mystical Months' of summer," said Miss Mitchum.

CALIFORNIA DREAMS: THE VALLEY traces the development of agri-business and its effects on California's laborers, ranchers and farmers. The show is narrated by Lorne Greene and will air at 4:30 p.m., Saturday, May 15, on METV, channel 19.

PRC graduation scheduled Sunday

Pearl River College will end the 1981-82 school year Sunday with formal graduation exercises for the school's 72nd class.

Dr. Marvin R. White, PRC's president, said 392 students have made application and are candidates for graduation and will be receiving associate degrees and/or certificates of proficiency during the 6 p.m. formal ceremony.

Of the 21 Mississippi junior colleges, Pearl River ranks third in the total number of students expected to graduate this spring. Enrollment wise, PRC is about in the middle of all Mississippi's two year schools.

"Pearl River has had an outstanding and exceptional school year," said White. "I really think we have had as much, if not more, genuine leadership demonstrated this school year than ever in the past."

The number of students applying for graduation is down 10 from last year's record. The actual number of students participating in the exercise will not be known until final grades are reported Friday at 3 p.m.

Dr. Aubrey Lucas, president of the University of Southern Mississippi will address the graduates, their family and friends, before the presentation and roll call of the associate degree graduates by Enoch Seal Jr., academic dean.

The presentation and roll call of the career graduates will be made by Dr. James Sones, dean of vocational-technical education.

The W schedules graduation

Eva Epperson Mackintosh of Denver, Colo., founder and director of Mackintosh Academy, a school for the gifted child, will be speaker at commencement Saturday, May 15, at Mississippi University for Women.

NEWS OF YOUTH

STARTING YOUR OWN NEWSPAPER

How do you start a newspaper? At the outset, you may want to seek the guidance of your parents, grandparents or teacher. Then, just follow these simple guidelines.

First, talk with your school friends and neighbors to learn what is going on in your part of town. There will be lots to write about. You may want to include stories about a fire in the neighborhood, a local baseball game and who won, a new teacher at your school, or where a new road is going to be constructed. A good newspaper also may include a short editorial about what the editor thinks of an important issue, a humorous cartoon, and perhaps a list of coming community events.

Second, ask a few friends to be your "reporters." Assign them to attend events around town and take notes on what they see and hear. Then, have them write up newspaper reports.

Pilot Razor Point Pens and Pilot Fineline Pens are excellent choices for taking notes.

Third, read the stories your reporters have written. By doing so, you will learn an important editing lesson. There will be more stories and words than you can fit into your newspaper!

However, a good editor can shorten a long story to a few words, without losing any of the facts or interesting points.

These story editing sessions may be long and difficult, but after a while you will see your newspaper take shape.

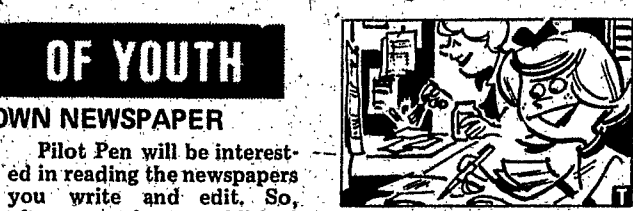

Fourth, after you've decided on what will go into your newspaper, write up the stories onto clean paper. And, don't forget to put the name of your newspaper at the top.

The drawings can be glued directly on to the paper, too. At the start you may want to have a two-page newspaper because it will be easy to assemble and will not cost much to have printed. A neighborhood printing shop can help you here.

Fifth, you do just what every newspaper seller has done for centuries; stand on the street corner and sell your papers.

By writing a neighborhood paper you will learn two important lessons. First, you will always be able to communicate with your friends and employers if you write well. Second, you will have learned how to start a small business.

This is only a short course on newspapers. Your local library will probably have a few books on newspapers that can help you further.

send you a "Pilot Pen Certificate of Merit" for your newspaper journalism. Your newspaper editor's name will be inscribed onto the document with a genuine Pilot Gold or Silver Super Color Marker. Good Luck!
